THE MORNING'S NEWS.

WASHINGTON.

An Appeal by the Red Cross Association.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The following call has been issued:—

To the American people—The President having signed the treaty of the Geneva Conference and the Senate having on the 6th inst. ratified the President's action, the American Association of the Red Cross, organized under provisions of said treaty, proposes at once to send its agents among the sufferers by the recent floods with a view to ameliorating their condition, so far as can be done by human aid and the means at hand will admit of. Contributions are urgently solicited. Remittances in money may be made to Hon. Chas. J. Folger, Secretary of the Treasury, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, or to his associates, Hon. Robert T. Lincoln and Hon. George B. Loring, Commissioner of Agriculture. Contributions of wearing apparel, bedding and provisions should be addressed to "The Red Cross Agent" at Memphis, Tenn., Vicksburg, Miss., and Helena, Arkansas.

(Signed)—Clara Barton, Bancroft Davis, Frederick Douglass, Alex. Y. P. Garnett, Mrs. Omar D. Conger, A. S. Solomons, Mrs. S. A. Martha Canfield, R. D. Mussey.

Reported Loss at the New Orleans Mint.

Director Burchard, of the mint, says that there is no truth in the published statement that the Government will lose several thousand dollars on a transaction at the New Orleans Mint, where a clerk is alleged to have received a gilded brick, and to have paid for it as a deposit of gold. He says that deposits are not paid for until they have been assayed. When a deposit is made the depositor takes a receipt for so many ounces of bullion and his deposit is turned over to the assay officer, and on his certificate as to the value of the deposit the depositor receives payment. It may be, he says, that a gilded brick was deposited, and that the clerk gave a receipt for the number of ounces without fixing any value, which receipt may have been negotiated; but if so, the Government would not be a loser, as it had not paid anything upon it.

The Unfinished Monitors.

The question of completing the unfinished monitors, which the House naval committee inspected some few weeks ago, has occupied the attention of that committee at its two last meetings. It is understood that this morning the committee, by an almost unanimous vote, agreed to recommend an appropriation sufficient to finish the vessels.

Civil Service Examination.

The house committee on civil service reform have decided to report in favor of trying a plan as an experiment with one of the most important offices in the public service here, with a view to its gradual introduction into other branches of the service, in case it succeeds in the first.

It is proposed to appoint a non-partisan board of examiners to conduct a practical examination of all presenting themselves, without regard to politics. The examination is to be for the purpose of determining the fitness of applicants to take hold of the special kind of work in the positions which they seek. It will have little to do with geography, history, science or the constitution, but much to do with the practical work demanded in the pension offices. The committee has given much study to this plan, and some of the members at least believe they have perfected a very practical plan.

Sergeant Mason's Case.

There is one feature of the Mason sentence which is attracting considerable attention, and that is he has received a more severe sentence than could have been passed on Guiteau if President Garfield had in the end so far recovered as to have remained a cripple for life. Guiteau could then have been sentenced to only eight years' imprisonment, whereas Mason received that and the loss of all pay due and loss of his position in the army.

Notes.

Captain Randall telegraphs to Fort Randall that there will be serious trouble with the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians unless a full issue of beef rations be ordered for them.

The sub-committee of the House judiciary is likely to report a bankrupt bill very shortly. It will follow the plan of Judge Lowell more closely that that of Senator Ingalls.

The postoffice inspectors report the postoffice building in this city unsafe, and recommend its immediate removal.

At the close of business today United States bonds had been redeemed at the Treasury as follows:—Under the 105th call, $19,679,950; under the 106th call, $18,335,650; under the 107th call, $15,028,900.

The Lawrence Strike.

LAWRENCE, March 23.—The weavers' committee had collected over $250 from business men for the relief fund, and the spinners, while their collections thus far are smaller, feel confident their appeals will be generously responded to.

The weavers held an enthusiastic meeting at the City Hall today, which was addressed by men and women strikers, all in favor of continuing the strike until their demands are granted. The following resolution was adopted:—

Resolved, That we, the weavers now on strike from the Pacific mills, are willing the differences between us and the corporation should be settled by a board of arbitration.

The only other action of the meeting was to appoint a committee to meet with the spinners for the purpose of uniting all the strikers in one organization, not as a labor union, but as a mutual relief society. A gentleman high in authority at the mills today stated that the corporation would remain firm, and that no board of arbitration could effect a settlement of affairs.

Condensed Telegrams.

The grand jury has refused to indict Mr. O. B. Potter, the owner of the burned World building in New York.

Erastus H. Cook, a note-broker of Providence, is missing. It is alleged that he has recently been engaged in "kite-flying" business on the basis of forged paper, and that he leaves several victims.

The schooner Volant, which left St. John's, N. B., on Tuesday for Barbadoes, returned last night, having been damaged by a collision with an iceberg.

The Union rolling mill strike at Chicago has ended in a compromise and the furnaces will start up again. The strikers gained an increase of 12 to 15 per cent., but agreed to work twelve hours per day.

The Republican legislative caucus decided on a bill last night for redistricting the state for congressional purposes, which will be introduced in the House today. It gives the Republicans seventeen, and the Democrats four districts.

The Providence Aborn street rink has been leased by Mr. H. H. Bigelow, for a term of years. He will take possession April 1st, and will put in 500 pairs of the Winslow skates.

Schooner Grace L. Fears arrived at Gloucester, from St. Peters Bank, today, with 98,000 pounds of fresh halibut and 3000 codfish, the largest stock for a single fare ever made at that port. The vessel was absent four weeks.

All moulding shops in Troy, N. Y., but one or two closed today. Seven hundred moulders are on a strike, and 2000 men are thus thrown out of employment.

A despatch to the London Daily News from Marseilles states that a severe storm prevailed along the Algerian coast on Wednesday. Two barks were wrecked and fourteen persons drowned.

A meeting of the trunk line executive committees was held yesterday at Commissioner Fink's office in New York, at which the agreements for a division of passenger and freight traffic, which have been under consideration since the harmony between the trunk lines was restored, were ratified.

The trustees of Andover Theological Seminary, at a meeting held Wednesday at the Congregational House, in Boston, in response to an inquiry from the board of visitors, reaffirmed their position as respects the election of Rev. Dr. Newman Smyth to the Abbott professorship of Christian theology.

LOSS OF VESSELS DURING 1881.

People talk about the disappearance of sailing vessels from the face of the deep now-a-days, and the fast multiplication of steam shipping, and generally suppose that with the superior advantages for navigating possessed by the latter class, shipwrecks must be growing less and less with every year. But what are the facts? Last year was one of the greatest loss to vessel property ever known, and there were 359 more wrecks during 1881 than during 1880. Last year the total number of shipwrecks for the world, so far as known, was 2,309. Consider the lighthouse of modern times, the life-saving establishments, the weather bureau, the multitude of steam appliances, the carefully kept coasts and the improved charts of wonderful accuracy and minuteness of details; and remember there were 2,309 wrecks last year, involving a loss of property amounting to $1,400,000,000, or $500,000,000 worth more of property than was lost by wrecks in 1880. Very many of the losses included in the above number were vessels of large tonnage bearing cargoes of great value; and of all the amount, Great Britain alone cost $900,000,000, or nearly two-thirds of the whole. Truly the perils of the sea have not yet all disappeared, nor has man as yet attained entire supremacy in the earth.—[Cape Ann Advertiser.

Rome has furnished a new surprise to the archæologists. The excavations in the rear of the Pantheon, made for the purpose of isolating the magnificent building where now rest the remains of King Victor Emmanuel, have unearthed anew the baths of Agrippa, first discovered some three hundred years ago, but since covered up by the new growth of the city and forgotten.

Piles! Piles!! Piles!! No One Need Suffer. A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian remedy), called Dr. Williams's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 years' standing. No one will suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. WILLIAMS'S INDIAN PILE OINTMENT absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as a poultice; gives instant relief, and is prepared ONLY FOR PILES, itching of the private parts and nothing else. Read what Hon. Judge Coffinbury, of Cleveland, says: "I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams's Indian Pile Ointment. THE DELIGHTS OF EASTERN TRAVEL.

That night our friend could not sleep on account of the pain in his body and limbs, and the next day he was down with fever. Then came delirium, which lasted two weeks. The fever raged with great violence. The tongue and throat became so swollen and parched that we could not understand what the sufferer said. As Gerash was uninhabited, and our camp supplies were very limited and not at all suited to the wants of a sick person, we must push on or our friend would die. By slow marches, with long intervals of rest, we reached Es Salt, thankful that our friend had survived the fatiguing journey. Although Es Salt is quite a large place, with a Turkish garrison, it affords, after all, but few comforts such as a very sick person needs. Milk was almost the only thing we could get for our friend, and sometimes our muleteers had to take it from the shepherds by force, because they would neither give nor sell us any, claiming that, as they were keeping the fast of Ramadan, they needed it all for themselves. Besides, it became necessary for our camp to move on, and the sick man must in some way be conveyed to Jerusalem, where he could have proper treatment and care. We sent to Jerusalem for a palanquin, in which he might be carried. The one we hoped to get was in Jaffa, and a new one had to be constructed. Those in charge of it left on Saturday, and by travelling all the time, including the night, reached Es Salt at six o'clock on Sunday evening, Oct. 17. As soon as the men and animals had rested a little we put our friend into his box, on as comfortable a bed as we could make, and at 9 o'clock started on our long, tedious journey for Jerusalem. For two days and nights previously we had had a terrible sirocco, and on the day we left Es Salt the thermometer was 93° in the shade, and that night, as we passed down Wady Sh'aib, the air was like that from a heated furnace. Besides the sick man and myself, I had a sheikh of the Adwan tribe as guide, a muleteer, one servant, and the three men who came with the palanquin.

A palanquin for a sick person is a box in which a bed can be made. One side is opened when the person is laid in, and closed again and fastened. The box has a roof and a window, sometimes one at each end for light and ventilation. It is fastened to two poles, which project both in front and rear of the box, and between these projecting poles, at each end, a mule is made to walk, to whose saddle the poles are attached. The mule in front can see well enough, but the one behind has a hard time, because his face is close to the rear of the box, and only the best and most sure-footed animals are selected for that difficult position. Even then he is liable to stumble a good deal, to bruise his legs, and, what is worse, to shake and jar the sick person. The sick man would roll from side to side, which would cause the palanquin to turn, so that often two men, and always one, had to walk by the side of the box to keep it steady. Sometimes it would strike against a projecting rock or the branches of a tree and be almost upset. The path, which was an unusually good one for Syria, often went along the edge of a precipice, with rugged rocks above, and the wady, now become a frightful gorge, hundreds of feet deep beneath. What if the mules should make a misstep here! Such was always my thought as I watched the palanquin and the men steadying it while passing those dangerous places. We were, however, providentially spared from any such accident and its consequent calamity. We stopped but once during the night, except to give our friend water, and that was only for twenty or thirty minutes, in a narrow place, to let a long procession of camels and mules pass. The moon was bright, and great hills, massive rocks and deep, dark gorges with the water rushing at the bottom, dense patches of oleanders along the banks of the stream, with here and there the fire of a Bedouin encampment, made up the scenery along the route of our night march, until we reached the Jordan, at half-past six in the morning. It had been a long, anxious night.—[East of Jordan.

FOREIGN TELEGRAMS.

New American Cable.

CANSO, N. S., March 23.—Advices received from the cable steamer Faraday say:—"At 11.30 o'clock A. M., New York time, today, just completed the laying of the American shore-end of the second of the transatlantic cables of the American Telegraph and Cable Company. The Faraday will proceed at once with the laying of the intermediate section of the cable, and with good luck will make the splice with the deep-sea section at the buoy in mid-ocean in a few days, which will give the American Telegraph and Cable Company communication with Europe through both cables. The first cable, although still in the hands of the contractors, is working perfectly, and shows the best results yet achieved in Atlantic telegraph."

The Irish Question in Canada.

OTTAWA, March 23.—Mr. Costigan's motion on Irish questions asks the Commons to renew the expression of their loyalty and devotion to Her Majesty's person and Government, and then sets forth:—1st. That the present condition of Ireland has been observed with regret. 2d. That Irishmen in Canada are among the most loyal and prosperous subjects. 3d. That the dominion has not received its proper share of Irish emigration because of estrangement toward the Imperial Government. 4th. That it is desirable that this should not continue. 5th. That Ireland should be given a similar form of self-government to that existing in the provinces of Canada. 6th. That clemency be extended by Her Majesty to persons now imprisoned for political offences.

The Czar and the Jews.

LONDON, March 23.—The Jewish World has received a telegram from St. Petersburg, stating that the Czar has refused to confirm the recommendations of the commissions on the Jewish questions in favor of compelling the Jews to quit the rural districts, on the ground that such expulsion would almost ruin agriculture, and that the recommendations are generally conceived in a vindictive spirit.

Prince Leopold Provided for.

LONDON, March 23.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Gladstone moved an additional annuity of £10,000 for Prince Leopold, and a pension of £600 yearly for his widow in the event of his death and the motion was passed by a vote of 387 to 42.

The Parliamentary Oath.

LONDON, March 23.—In the House of Lords, today, the Earl of Redesdale's bill, providing that every peer and member of the House of Commons before taking his seat, shall make a solemn and sincere declaration and affirmation of his belief in Almighty God, was opposed by the Earl of Shaftesbury, who moved the previous question. The motion was agreed to.

JANUARY SESSION AT PROVIDENCE.

WEDNESDAY, March 23.

Senate.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock, Gov. Littlefield in the chair.

Mr. Seabury reported as engrossed, an act to incorporate the Soldiers' Aid Society; passed.

Also, an act in amendment of Chapter 10, of the Public Statutes, "On the Manner of Conducting Elections;" passed.

Mr. Green, from the committee on accounts, reported, with recommendations, the bill of E. L. Freeman & Co., $10.89, for printing 150 copies of the statement of the annual expenditures of the state auditor; passed.

Mr. Seabury reported as engrossed an act in addition to Chapter 127, Public Statutes, "Of Milk;" passed.

On motion of Senator Razee, the Senate then adjourned till tomorrow at 11 A. M.

House.

The House met at 11 o'clock, Mr. Speaker Sanborn in the chair.

Mr. Chester, from the committee on engrossed acts reported act amending Chapter 219, "Of Appeals in Criminal Cases," which was concurred in as so engrossed.

Mr. Sheffield read the report of the majority of the committee on constitutional changes, a report signed by all but two of the members.

The report was tabled temporarily.

Mr. Bosworth, from the committee on judiciary, reported an act amending Chap. 166 "Of the Property of Married Women"—providing for increased power and control by married women over their seperate property; passed.

Also, an act amending Chap. 173 "Of Estates and Intestate Estates." It increases the time from three, five, seven years, which must elapse after the disappearance of any person, before his estate can be administrated upon.

Mr. Sheffield called up the tax bill, and moved its passage as follows:—

AN ACT in amendment of Chapter 44 of the Public Statutes "Of the collection of taxes."

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section 7 of Chapter 44 of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows, namely:—

SECTION 7. If any person is taxed for several parcels of real estate, or for personal and real estate in the same tax, the whole of such person's tax may be collected, either out of the real or personal estate, or any part thereof, provided that no aliened land shall be sold, if the person have other sufficient real estate, and, provided, that where real estate is mortgaged and such mortgage is duly recorded before the collector has levied thereon, the sale of such real estate for any tax, other than a tax or taxes upon the mortgaged property itself, shall be made subject to such mortgage.

SEC. 2. Any mortgagee may at any time within ten days after the leaving of the notice required to be left with a mortgage by section 12 of this chapter, to which this is an amendment, pay the tax assessed upon it for the mortgaged property, with interest and incidental expenses, if any, and the amount so paid shall be a part of the mortgage debt and secured by such mortgage.

SEC. 3. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Mr. Taft moved to amend by substituting the following for section 2 as above printed:—

SEC. 2. Any mortgagee may at any time before the sale pay the tax assessed upon or for the mortgaged property, with interest and incidental expenses, if any, and the amount so paid shall be a part of the mortgage debt and secured by such mortgage.

Messrs. C. S. Smith, Taft, Sheffield and Chickering debated the bill, and finally it was laid over and made the special order for Tuesday next.

Adjourned to Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

SERVANT GIRLS AND BURGLARS.

Mary Thorpe confessed in Justice Bixby's court Tuesday, that she admitted John McAuliffe to the house of her employer, Dr. Sprague, last Sunday evening. McAuliffe had told her of his intention to attempt a burglary in the house, and had persuaded her by threats, if not by promises to open the door to himself and his accomplice. Dr. Sprague suspected something wrong and awaited the invaders, pistol in hand. But his success in bringing the guilty girl and McAuliffe to justice may not discourage imitations of their crime. Dishonest servant girls have an opportunity to effectively aid burglars by opening doors to them. The crime of Mary Thorpe may well cause alarm in thousands of New York homes. Doors conveniently left ajar at appointed hours may afford easy access to houses selected by burglars for their operations, and prudent people will use the utmost care in the selection of servants who can be trusted, and having obtained such as they believe to be honest, will yet be watchful lest they be in league with burglars.—[N. Y. Mail.

Old Aunt Sukey, who lives on Austin avenue, is known to be the stingiest woman in the city. Old Mose cut up a load of tough oak wood for her a few days ago and she refused to pay him more than a quarter, about half the usual price. "Nuffin, 'cept you are so stingy of you had been Eba yar would hab cut de hull apple yerself an' not gib Adam none and we would hab escaped de curse."—[Texas Siftings.

We sometimes hear consumers assert that they prefer eating oleomargarine rather than poor butter. We fancy if they know the component parts of some lots of the former they would be more fastidious in their choice. A New York chemist declares that the refuse fat of a pork-packing establishment is, to his knowledge, sent to artificial butter factories and another found in oleomargarine horse grease and other refuse, such as is ordinarily used in making candles. If such substances are considered better for spreading over one's breakfast rolls than genuine butter, then it is because a portion of our communities are approaching the tastes and condition of cannibals.—[Exchange.

INVALIDS OF AMERICA!

Thousands of persons are suffering today from a variety of maladies. From these they have been suffering through many a weary year. The gamut of drug practice has been run through. This includes allopathy, homœopathy, electropathy and all the conceivable nonsense of the day—the results of which are always disappointment.

Nature, through thousands of years, has been violated, and the gifts of our Creator set at naught. We have shut out from ourselves the blessing of magnetism as found in the ever present sunlight, by clothing ourselves in fashionable attire. The

"WILSONIA"

MAGNETIZED

CLOTHING!

Is the greatest wonder of the age, yet one of the most simple of inventions, and the time is not far distant when no man or woman will think of dressing without wearing magnetized garments. The "Wilsonia" garment has been reduced in price so the poor can buy them as well as the rich. The "Wilsonia" will cure almost every case that is curable. Call or send for a circular to

L. D. DAVIS, Agent,

AT DAILY NEWS OFFICE.

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS AND THE NEWPORT JOURNAL.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon (Sundays excepted), at the News building, 137 Thames street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, and a complete and comprehensive summary of news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 36 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from the city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the whole year is paid strictly in advance. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines, or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the Daily for one week or longer.

Notices of births, marriages and funerals 50 cents each.

Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business, are guaranteed but five insertions in a week and are allowed twenty-five changes a year.

The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

The News has four steam presses and is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

The President has approved the anti-polygamy bill and it now becomes a law.

Prince Leopold has been voted a provision by Parliament and now he can afford to get married.

It is reported that John M. Francis, editor of the Troy Times, who has been minister to Greece, is booked for the Belgian mission.

Rhode Island need not be ashamed of its representatives in Congress. Messrs. Chace and Spooner both voted against the anti-Chinese bill.

Thomas W. Hart, who was the last man to hold the office of City Marshal at Providence and since then has been highway surveyor and highway commissioner, died in that city yesterday morning.

Philip S. Van Rensselaer, a descendant of the patroon, shot himself and died at a hotel in New York on Wednesday. He was a young man and has been engaged in extensive travelling. No satisfactory cause has been assigned for the terrible deed.

A great amount of ridicule has been heaped upon Shipherd but he seems to be about as straight on the Peruvian question as any of his associates. He is about on the same tack as the famous Oakes Ames and his memorandum book. Collector Roberison says that thus far Shipherd has only told the truth.

Work on the Warren waterworks has been begun. Mr. G. N. Weaver has been engaged with a corps of assistants for the past week in making surveys on the banks of the Kickemuit river for use in locating the source of supply. Mr. Norman will give the people of that charming village their money's worth.

The national House of Representatives passed the anti-Chinese bill in exactly the same form as it passed the Senate. The amendment limiting the prohibition to ten years was lost by a vote of 100 yeas to 131 nays and the bill passed by a vote of 177 yeas to 65 nays. The only New England representatives voting for the bill were Messrs. Ladd and Murch, of Maine, Greenbackers, and Mr. Phelps, of Connecticut, Democrat.

The Rev. Dr. S. W. Coggeshall will preach his semi-centennial sermon at the session of the New England Southern Conference on April 5th at 2 P. M. Dr. Coggeshall, who is well known in this city, united with the conference holding its session in Providence in 1832, and after fifty years service is an acknowledged authority in Methodist history and literature. His address on this occasion will doubtless be rich in instructive material gathered from his long period of service, and many will be glad to hear him.

The tariff commission and life-saving service bills were further discussed by the Senate yesterday, and bills were introduced to make the department of agriculture an executive department, and for the formation and admission into the Union of the state of Washington. Mr. Dawes, from the appropriation committee, reported the Indian appropriation bill with sundry amendments. The entire session of the House was consumed in discussing the anti-Chinese bill, which was finally passed in the exact shape in which it came from the Senate, by a vote of 167 to 65.

The Springfield Republican, which never says a favorable word for public men if it can be avoided, says:—There is reason to believe that the recent reports regarding the alleged scandalous character of the expenses incidental to the funeral of President Garfield have been much exaggerated. The $8000 which was paid by the sergeant-at-arms of the House is regarded by those who are acquainted with the facts as an altogether reasonable amount. There were paid out of that sum the entire expenses of the railroad train, consisting of six Pullman cars which ran from Washington to Cleveland, the bills for a large number of carriages for the congressional procession there and in Cleveland, the expenses attending the mourning decorations of the capital and the funeral train and many other items of legitimate expense. The amount paid for refreshments, including wines used on the train, was very small.

SENATOR BEN. HILL.

Senator Hill, of Georgia, is one of the marked men of the day. Some of his peculiarities have been published to the world in a manner to attract attention to his personality, and his extreme political views have given him prominence in his party and made him a target for those on the other side.

Senator Hill is now reported in a dying condition, his disease being cancer in the mouth. His case attracts much attention for with all his eccentricities he is probably the most powerful orator in the South, and is distinguished as a lawyer. His speech on the amnesty question in the House in the Forty-fourth Congress, when Mr. Blaine and Mr. Garfield so eloquently denounced Jeff Davis for his responsibility for the Andersonville prison-pen horrors, at once gave him a national reputation, though he had just entered Congress. The tone of the speech, however, was unfortunate for himself and the Democratic party, and his address was used largely, and with effect, at the North as a Republican campaign document.

Senator Hill is forty-eight years of age, a native of Georgia, and is a graduate of the university of his native state. He served in the Georgia legislature before the war, and in 1855 was the Know Nothing candidate for Congress, but was defeated. In 1857 he was the Know Nothing candidate for Governor of Georgia, but was defeated by Joe Brown, his present colleague in the Senate, then as now a Democrat, although he has completely boxed the political compass. Hill was a Union man at the breaking out of the war but went over with his state. He was afterwards a Confederate Senator and prisoner at Fort Lafayette. He entered the National House of Representatives in 1875, and has since been continuously in the House and Senate.

CHARITY ORGANIZATION.

Very few of our people probably fully appreciate the nature and importance of the Charity Organization Society which was established a few years since in this city. That it has greatly reduced the amount of pauperism among us is evident to every careful observer. By its system of investigation the unworthy applicants for charity funds have been weeded out, and many a man who depended upon public or private gifts for a livelihood has been compelled to go to work and earn his own living as he was abundantly able to do. Without some such system we should soon come to have a pauper class largely made up of persons who belong to it from choice and not from necessity. In fact this evil was fast coming to be fixed upon our American society everywhere at it has long been in the old world.

Our attention is called to this subject at this time by the appearance of "A Handbook of Charity Organization" compiled by Rev. S. Humphrey Gurteen, of Buffalo, in which the subject in all its bearings is practically considered. The evidence is afforded that in the past there has not been a single system of municipal charity, however well considered, that has worked satisfactorily. There has not been one of them that makes proper distinction in rendering aid between poverty resulting from misfortune and poverty resulting from vice. The old system makes the industrious support the idle; it diminishes industry, frugality and provident habits, and tends to draw the poor from the country to the cities or large towns.

The first Charity Organization society was formed in London where it accomplished much good in exposing frauds, preventing vagrancy and driving professed beggars from the streets. On the other hand it sought and aided the worthy poor whose modesty stood in their way under the old system of promiscuous giving to clamorous applicants. The experiment was tried in Buffalo in 1877, with equal success, and the system is now in operation in Philadelphia, New York, New Haven, Syracuse, Boston and many other towns, from all of which we hear but one report as to its beneficent workings.

It is pleasant to know that the Newport society, like its Sanitary Organization, is regarded as one of the model institutions of the kind. Robert Treat Paine, Jr., who devotes his time to the good work, places Newport in the very front rank of these societies, and it is not out of place to say that we are greatly indebted to such men as J. Truman Burdick, J. P. Cotton and William A. Stedman for this result. These gentlemen, though pressed with a multitude of cares of their own, have voluntarily and without compensation done the work of the Overseers of the Poor in the most thorough and satisfactory manner. Such ladies as Miss Kate P. Wormeley and Mrs. I. P. White and their associates have also done much for which they are entitled to the gratitude of all concerned. The whole community should come more freely to the support of the society which is doing this work. All unknown applicants for help should be directed to the rooms where the facts are to be had and a reasonable verdict made up. While promiscuous giving to street beggars is sure to do more harm than good, benevolence bestowed through this carefully managed institution can seldom be misapplied.

PORTSMOUTH.

A few days since Mr. William T. Harvey shot and killed, not far from his residence, a large white owl. It is a splendid bird, and measures five feet from tip to tip of its wings. It was purchased by Mr. Frank G. Falkner, who proposes having it stuffed and mounted.

Monday afternoon, while Miss M. Horgan, of Newport, and Miss N. Harty, of Chicago, were out riding in a buggy belonging to Mr. Timothy Kennedy of this town, driven by a young man from Fall River, they met with an accident near Portsmouth Coal Mines, that came near proving serious. The buggy was damaged beyond the possibility of being repaired. Miss Harty received a severe contusion of the head, and Miss Horgan was rendered unconscious for some time after the accident. The young man who was driving them was but slightly injured. They are all rapidly recovering from the effects of the severe shaking up that they received.

Tuesday evening, Mr. Frank T. Southwick, of Newport, gave a public reading in Eureka hall. The evening proved dark and stormy, but the selections were rendered to the satisfaction of the small audience present.

He was found in the cabin and seized by Capt. Pike. This morning Baker was arraigned before Judge Baker and sentenced to the Providence County Jail for one month.

—The picture to be forwarded to Count de Rochambeau, at Paris, by members of the Newport Artillery Company has been executed in a very masterly manner by Notman and is intended to form one of a number of similar souvenirs of the visit to America of the French representatives last fall. The members of the company in the picture are Colonel George R. Fearing, Adjutant Easton, Sergeant Shaw, and Private Galen Davis. The picture represents a field scene with tents at the rear and a field piece on either side.

PROVIDENCE'S SENSATION.

HEAVY FORGERIES AND SWINDLINGS BY ERASTUS H. COOK.

Providence was treated to quite a sensation yesterday, Erastus H. Cook, a note broker carrying on business on Weybosset street, suddenly disappeared and several parties began to look into their accounts.

Cook has bought and sold all kinds of mercantile or negotiable paper, and was largely interested in the transaction of Wm. D. Hilton, a few years ago, it being reported at that time that he had cleared some $30,000 by his connection with Hilton. However that may be, he seems to have discovered a partly new method of making money which, though of a doubtful character, seems to have netted him a great deal of money. Many business men held some of the Hilton paper and had lost by it and were willing to enter into some scheme to recover their lost wealth.

Cook formed a sort of ring toward the close of last summer for the ostensible purpose of buying up whatever of the Sprague paper there was in the market, and which could be purchased at a low figure, he claiming that by the rise in value which must ensue large sums could be realized. His mode of operation seems to have been to get business men interested with him, in many instances by promising them that if they would help him to buy the Sprague paper he would gradually recompense them for their losses on the Hilton paper.

Cook would go to some business man and borrow his check for $5000, giving his own check in exchange. Taking the check which he had received he would deposit it in some bank, get the money on it, and request the bank to hold it for several days or weeks, as the case might be, agreeing to pay them a stipulated sum per day or week on each thousand dollars for the time which the check was held. A similar trade would be made with some other business man, and when the time had expired he would take up the first by giving some other man's check in exchange, or by a certified check, or by a bank cashier's check; the whole system being a sort of "rob Peter to pay Paul" operation. In this way Cook had been able to obtain and carry away about $50,000, Mr. Isaac R. Sheldon alone holding Cook's checks to the amount of $27,600.

These operations would seem bad enough of themselves, but it looks as if the crime of forgery had been added to the rest, as Mr. Sheldon has a check for $4,000 now in his possession purporting to have been signed by William K. Atwood, which has been pronounced to be a forgery by Mr. Atwood. The whole affair is at present in such a state of confusion that it is impossible to tell the amount involved in the fraudulent transactions, or just who the losers will be. The office furniture has been attached and a keeper placed in charge, but there is little there of any value except the furniture and safe. Mr. E. M. Bassett is acting as counsel for Mr. Sheldon. The police have been informed, and are hunting for traces of the fugitive. Cook's wife and children are reported as having left on the afternoon train. Wednesday.

MACBETH AT CASINO HALL.

Go to the Casino hall tomorrow evening and hear and see Mr. Woollett's Macbeth. If one could see Shakespeare himself the same evening at the other Casino, even that place would shrink to smaller dimensions than that round "wooden O," the old original "Globe," in which William used to play the ghost. As it is, the nearest we can get to him is to let him, the "myriad-minded," deliver himself in one of his great dramas through the voice and action of one whose mind and heart and soul are full of him, and who mightily helps the hearer with the poet himself, "climb the highest heaven of invention."

AUCTION SALE OF UNCLAIMED PACKAGES.

Mr. Thomas Burlingham will have a unique sale at Ferry wharf tomorrow when he will sell all the packages remaining unclaimed at the New York & Boston Despatch Express Company's office. This will be the first sale of its kind in several years as the other expresses send their goods to Providence to be sold. These sales are combinations of lottery and circus and as the packages are offered in the condition as when the company received them are attended not only by parties desirous of securing ten or twenty dollars' worth of goods for twenty-five cents but also by others who enjoy the discomfiture of the man who pays several dollars for a pine box in good condition

Abbott Lawrence, Jr., oldest son of Abbott Lawrence, of Boston, died at Nassau on Wednesday, March 15, of consumption. He graduated from Harvard College in the class of 1875, and after two years in the Cambridge Law school, made a journey round the world, returning to Boston in the summer of 1879. He was for several years on the staff of General Sutton, formerly of the Second Brigade. He began the practice of law about a year ago, and already gave promise of future distinction. His death at the early age of 28 will be sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends.

SUPREME COURT—MARCH TERM.

FOURTH DAY—AFTERNOON.

The court came in this afternoon at three o'clock. Present Chief Justice Durfee and Justice Matteson.

The trial of the case Quinquinnett vs. Knight, pending at the hour of noon adjournment, was resumed, and Mr. Peckham entered upon his argument for the plaintiff, Mr. Galvin having already concluded for the defendant. Mr. Peckham closed, at 3.48 when Chief Justice Durfee charged the jury, closing at four o'clock when the jury retired with the case.

The following petitions for divorce were heard before Judge Matteson in the Senate Chamber, and granted and decrees ordered in each case:—

Charles A. Wyatt vs. Amanda A. Wyatt: Messrs. Sheffield for the petitioner;

Emily S. Asher vs. Alexander Asher; C. M. Lee, Esq., for petitioner;

Fannie Graham vs. John Graham: Colonel Honey for petitioner:

Henry G. Reynolds vs. Elmira Reynolds was heard and continued; Edwin Metcalf, Esq., of Providence, for the petitioner.

Richard Wright was admitted to be a citizen of the United States and took the usual oath of allegiance and renunciation.

At 5.45 the jury in the case of Quinquinnett vs. Knight returned into court, and rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and assessing damages for him in the sum of two hundred dollars. The ad damnum in the writ on which the suit was brought was laid in the sum of five hundred dollars. The court was then adjourned to nine o'clock Friday morning.

The following entries have been made since the opening of the court:—

Attorney General vs. city of Newport—equity—final decree entered;

Thomas Estes vs. Peter Cook—jury trial waived—dismissed for non-payment of continuance fees;

Edwin G. S. Alger vs. Charles E. White for confirmation of judgment—judgment of lower court confirmed with double costs of this court;

Richard Lawton vs. Frow B. Garnett and another—jury dismissed for non-payment of continuance fees:

John H. Williams vs. Marine Guano and Oil Company—dismissed for non-payment of continuance fees;

In the case of Nicholas Underwood vs. Alexander McIntosh—nil dicit—judgment was rendered for plaintiff for $292.80 and costs;

In the case of Richard S. Greenough and another vs. John La Farge—nil dicit—judgment was rendered for the plaintiffs in the sum of $456.75 and costs.

FIFTH DAY.

The court came in at nine o'clock this morning. Present Chief Justice Durfee and Justice Matteson.

The second petit jury, after the opening of the court, was discharged until Monday the 1st day of May next at 10 o'clock A. M.

The first petit jury was called to the panel and case No. 1365 of the civil docket, Abraham T. Peckham and others vs. Daniel W. Goodspeed was put on trial, Mr. Peckham of Newport for plaintiffs and Messrs. Van Slyck and Lapham of Providence for the defendant.

This suit is brought by the plaintiffs, who were dealers in hay and grain, for an alleged breach of contract on the part of the defendants who purchased of the plaintiffs a contract for a lot of hay, a part of which the defendants received and a part of which they refused to take—alleging the quality of the hay as the reason. The plaintiffs contend that the hay was all right, and that this is not the real reason of the failure to perform.

At one o'clock the court was adjourned to three o'clock this afternoon, this case still pending and will probably occupy the day.

POETIC ADDRESS BY AN INDIAN.

Ki-ä-si, the second war cacique of the Zuni Indians now in Boston, responded as follows to the address of welcome at the reception given them at the Old South Meeting House yesterday:—

My fathers and children—It was to see you and speak with you, and to see your world, that we came Eastward with one little child (referring to Mr. Cushing). It was according to the wishes of the gods that today our roads of life come together. Our country is so poor, yours is so beautiful; ours is a poor people, yours is a grand people; yet with this difference between us, we see smiles on every face. We eat our food, we ride in our carriages, we live in our houses; and we thank you that such a people as you can show such hospitality to people so poor as we are.

Nai-iu-tchi also spoke, saying, "My children and fathers—The days are numbered when at last we meet and speak together. And, although we speak in different tongues, here my child sits who speaks as I do. We are not here for nothing, but with prayers in our hearts and the love of our people we come to the ocean of the sunrise, where, thinking of the children that are to be, we will speak to the father of the ocean. You are like the gods; and now let your heart be good and your speech gentle, for if you were to frown upon my people they would die."

CASTING TWO LARGE SHAFTS.

Two monster shafts are now in process of construction at the Morgan Iron Works in New York. They are to be placed in two of the new steamers of the Old Colony Line. The shafts are 41 feet in length, 28 inches in diameter, and will weigh when completed upward of 41 tons, being the largest ever forged in this country, if not in the world. Farrell Dorily, the superintendent of the forging department of the Morgan Iron Works, in speaking with a reporter about these shafts the other day, said:—

"They are made entirely out of scrap iron welded and forged together. You see here this pile of horseshoes, washers, bits of boiler iron, spikes, nuts, etc.; these are the best materials for shafts, and the smaller they are the better, because the oftener iron is worked, the freer it is from impurities. We put a pile of these scraps weighing about 250 pounds into a furnace until they get soft; then we take them out and hammer them into billets about four feet long. These billets are examined, and if there is the slightest imperfection in them they are not used. Then we take a number of these billets and lay them together and put them in another furnace till they became soft enough to weld, when they are put under a forty-ton hammer and thoroughly welded. In this way, by heating fresh bundles, we gradually thicken and lengthen the shaft until it is the required size. In such an important piece of machinery as a shaft the greatest care must be taken not only to have the best iron, but the best work, and we try to meet both these requirements."

"Our natural resources," said John Roach, the proprietor of the Morgan Iron Works, "make it possible for us to build the best ships in the world. I believe that we can make shafts right here in New York that will outlast any made abroad. Here are two pieces of iron; one is from the wreck of the Arizona, of English make, and the other is from our own works. Both were torn violently from the vessels. The English iron has broken squarely off like a piece of pot metal; the American iron curled up like a ribbon and never broke at all. That shows the difference at a glance. These two shafts which we are making will take about six weeks to complete, and they will be equal, if not superior, to any similar work done in Europe."—[New York Tribune.

LITERARY AND DRAMATIC.

The May number of The Century is to contain Mr. Lowell's new poem.

Mr. Tennyson is writing an epithalamium for Princess Helen and Prince Leopold.

A new book by Matthew Arnold, "Irish Essays and others," will be shortly issued in London.

Messrs. Scribner's Sons will publish the first two volumes of Froude's Life of Carlyle in April. It will be illustrated with portraits.

Adamowski has come into possession of a rare old violin that bids fair to rival the famous one of Ole Bull.

Mr. Frank D. Millett contributes to the Century for April a carefully illustrated article on the Chelsea (Mass.) tiles, which mark a new and original movement in American art.

The New York critics who rallied to assist at Miss Dickinson's performance of Hamlet might well have said:—"We come to bury Anna, not to praise her."—[Boston Traveller.

The first thirty performances of "Serge Panine," George Ohnet's remarkable drama, at the Paris Gymnase, have produced $32,000, a greater financial success than was achieved even by "Frou-Frou."

Mr. John Austin Stevens retires from the editorship of the Magazine of American History, which owes so much of its success to his management, and is succeeded by Messrs. B. F. DeCosta and Henry P. Johnston.

The London papers declare Mr. Irving's revival of "Romeo and Juliet" at the Lyceum the most brilliant and beautiful pageant yet achieved. The acting of the play, however, appears to be not above commonplace.

Mr. George Riddle has entered into a five years' engagement with Mr. J. M. Hill. Next season he will present "Œdipus Tyrannus" in the western cities and will also appear in "Hamlet" and "The Marble Heart."

The Actors' Fund.—Performances in aid of this fund will be given on the afternoon of April 3, at all the theatres of New York and Brooklyn, and it is proposed that these benefit performances be repeated annually at this season of the year.

The next volume in the series of Campaigns of the Civil War, published by Charles Scribner's Sons, will be "The Army of the Cumberland," by General H. M. Cist, which will be very timely in relation to the present controversy over the military skill of General Rosecrans.

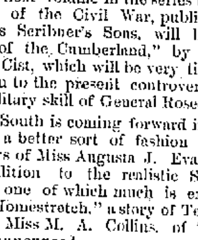

The South is coming forward in literature in a better sort of fashion than in the days of Miss Augusta J. Evans, and an addition to the realistic Southern novels, one of which much is expected, "The Homestretch," a story of Tennessee life, by Miss M. A. Collins, of Tennessee, is announced.

"Esmeralda" will be performed for the one hundred and fiftieth time next Friday evening, and on that occasion the visitors at the Madison Square Theatre will be presented with a tile fired for the theatre by the Chelsea Tile Works and bearing a relief modelled by the imaginative and ingenious Elihu Vedder.

Queen Victoria's visit to Mentone is her second visit to Italy. The first was paid three years ago in March, when she spent about three weeks at Arona and Baveno, on the shores of Lake Maggiore, in company with the Princess Beatrice. The Queen, whose youth was passed in great seclusion, reigned for eighteen years before she went out of her dominions. In 1855 she paid her first foreign visit to Napoleon and Eugénie, at the Tuileries, with the Prince Consort. She and Prince Albert afterwards made private visits to his own early home in Coburg and on one occasion the royal couple passed a fortnight at a villa near Lucerne. Since the Queen's widowhood she has been twice to Baden, once in 1872 (when she passed through Paris, snubbing President Thiers by politely declining his attentions), and again in 1876, when she travelled as Countess of Roseneau under the escort of her secretary for foreign affairs, Lord Derby. All the Queen's little tours abroad have begun in the month of March. She is more fortunate than Queen Anne, who by the act of settlement (repealed for the benefit of the Hanoverian Georges) was prohibited from leaving her realms without the express permission of Parliament.

Hon. George Bancroft entertained General and Mrs. Grant and a few friends at a private dinner party, last night. Among others present were President Arthur, Secretary and Mrs. Frelinghuysen and Miss Frelinghuysen, Justice Gray of the Supreme Court, Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft Davis, Senator and Mrs. Hale, Speaker Keifer and Mrs. Keifer, Hon. Hamilton Fish and Mrs. Fish, Representatives Robeson and Kasson, and Mrs. Wadsworth.

ANOTHER DEFALCATION.

Exeter, N. H., Greatly Excited.

Geo. E. Lane, County Treasurer, Defaults to the Amount of $50,000.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

EXETER, N. H., March 24.—There is great excitement here today over the defalcation and failure of George E. Lane, banker and county treasurer. He has been dealing in stocks on margin. The amount of defalcation is placed at $50,000. Lane is Commissary General of the Governor's staff and president of the Union Five Cent Savings Bank. He has hitherto had the confidence and esteem of every citizen in town.

The Simmons Libel Case.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

BOSTON, March 24.—The defence in the libel suit of Hon. W. A. Simmons vs. the Sunday Mail opened this morning. The defendant claims that Mr. Simmons's name was not in any way connected with the articles; such a connection is his assumption only. The case as against Taylor is not pressed by the District-Attorney, Taylor having no connection with the case.

Weather Indications.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

WASHINGTON, March 23, 12 M.—For New England, colder northwest to southwest winds, higher barometer, occasional snow and partly cloudy weather. Cautionary signals are displayed from Chincoteague to Eastport.

Weather in New York.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

NEW YORK, March 24.—At 8.30 A. M. it was clear and pleasant, the wind west and thermometer at 42.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 23.

Senate.

Bills were introduced:—

By Mr. Frye—To provide for the formation and admission into the Union of the state of Washington.

The life saving service bill was again taken up and the discussion upon an amendment proposing more stations occupied the remainder of the time allotted to the calendar. The bill was not acted upon.

At 2.10 the tariff commission bill came up as the regular order, and Mr. Garland opposed the appointment of a commission as of no practical use in the establishment of a proper revenue system.

Pending a motion for an executive session, Messrs. Bayard and Sherman asked unanimous consent to an agreement to dispose of the bill tomorrow, but objection was made.

Mr. Dawes, from the appropriation committee, reported the Indian appropriation bill, with sundry amendments. This increased the appropriation for the support of Sioux Indians about $150,000, making the aggregate amount appropriated for this purpose, $1,807,300.

At 3:35 the Senate went into executive session, and when the doors were reopened adjourned until tomorrow.

House.

The House this morning resumed the debate on the Chinese bill.

Mr. Morse, of Massachusetts, based his objection to the bill upon the ground that it would destroy the commerce between the United States and China.

Mr. Joyce, of Vermont, took the floor to state the grounds why he should vote against the bill.

Mr. Dunnell, of Minnesota, said if the period of suspension were reduced to ten years, he thought he would vote for the bill, but as it now stood it would leave a national taint which would do the country infinite damage.

Mr. Orth, of Indiana, opposed the measure because it violated a treaty and because it made discriminations founded upon race and color.

The legislative day of Wednesday here closed and that of Thursday opened with prayer by the Chaplain.

The morning hour having been dispensed with, the House, at 12.25 o'clock, resumed the consideration of the Chinese bill.

Mr. Sherwin, of Illinois, admitted that the bill was a departure from the traditions of the country, but argued that the time for that departure had come, and expressed his intention of voting for the bill as it stood.

Mr. Hazleton, of Wisconsin, spoke in advocacy of the bill.

Mr. Pacheco, of California, and Mr. Townsend, of Illinois, supported the bill.

At 3 o'clock the previous question was ordered on the bill and amendments which were offered by various members.

Mr. Page then took the floor for a closing hour of debate, but yielded ten minutes to Mr. Robinson of Massachusetts, who concluded his argument.

After a brief speech by Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, in support of the bill, Mr. Page, of California, took the floor to close the debate. He trusted the bill would be passed without amendment.

The House then proceeded to vote upon the amendments, the first being that offered by Mr. Kasson, of Iowa, reducing the period of suspension to ten years. It was rejected—yeas, 100; nays, 131.

Mr. Butterworth's amendment, limiting the term of suspension to fifteen years, was lost without a call of the yeas and nays.

A large number of amendments were then voted upon, but all were lost without a division being called.

The bill was then passed—yeas, 167; nays, 65.

THE CUTTER MADGE.

Mr. Coats, the owner of the Scotch cutter Madge, which is at Long Wharf, will not be allowed to give her away, as it was recently stated he purposed doing. Assistant Collector Trelvar of the port of New York says:—

"In pursuance with correspondence which passed between the Secretary of the Treasury and the collector last August, it was determined to abide by the terms contained in the letters, which were that as long as she remained the private property of an alien and was used in this country only to sail races, only so long would she remain undutiable. That she could not be licensed nor commissioned as a yacht, inasmuch as our laws and regulations only recognize those vessels as yachts which belong to organized yacht clubs and are of 200 tons burden." In a subsequent letter of March 17, 1882, Assistant Secretary French wrote to Mr. Auchincloss that, "as she has become your property, she must be treated under the law as dutiable." Mr. Trelvar said that the probabilities were that the Madge would be sent back to Scotland, as the department would without question take prompt steps to prevent any infringements on our custom house laws.

YACHTING NOTES.

A small sloop yacht is being built for Mr. Rathburn, of Perth Amboy, N. J.

The sloop Schemer, S. Y. C., Mr. W. S. Alley, is being overhauled and put in trim for the season.

The centreboard sloop yacht building for Mr. Park, of New York, at Jefferson, L. I., will be named Whitby.

The schooner Crusader, N. Y. Y. C., Mr. J. R. Maxwell, has been altered and improved and will be put in commission at an early date.

The Larchmont Yacht Club has secured the handsome dwelling of the late ex-Commodore Fleming, at Larchmont, as a club house for the coming season.

The centreboard schooner yacht building for Colonel Porter, of New York, will be named Lancer. She is 81 feet 1 inch over all, 21 feet beam, 9 feet 6 inches hold and 7 feet 5 inches draught of water.

The Toronto Telegram of the 17th says: —"Yesterday the first plank was put on the new cutter for Messrs. W. Gooderham and John Seys. When finished she will be tried at the Boston and Newport regattas."

The keel sloop yacht building for Mr. W. Barclay Parsons, N. Y. Y. C., will be named Mystery. She is 61 feet over all, 59 feet on water line, 19 feet beam, 7 feet 6 inches hold and 7 feet 6 inches draught of water.

The wooden steam yacht Ibis, N. Y. Y. C., has been sold to Mr. F. L. Higginson, of Boston. She will be used for pleasure service in Massachusetts Bay and probably be enrolled in both the Eastern and the N. Y. Y. clubs.

Mr. F. M. Weld, Jr., a grandson of the late Benjamin Rodman, died at his father's residence in Jamaica Plain, on Saturday last, of consumption. Mr. Weld was the owner of schooner yacht Magic, and a member of the New Bedford Yacht Club.

"The American schooner yacht Intrepid, 280 tons, Mr. Lloyd Phenix," says the London Field, March 11, "is at Gosport having some repairs executed preparatory to being fitted out, and will shortly be placed in the dry dock to be recalked, recoppered and thoroughly overhauled."

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

Senator Teller will Accept the Position.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Senator Teller has notified the President that he will accept the interior portfolio, and he will be appointed today or early next week.

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF LONGFELLOW.

He is Not Expected to Live Many Hours.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

BOSTON, March 24.—At 11.30 o'clock this morning Prof. Henry W. Longfellow was in a very critical condition. He was suffering from peritonitis. His friends believe that his death is a question of only a few hours.

Wall Street.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

NEW YORK, March 24.—Stocks opened irregular ⅛ to 1⅜ higher, but declined in the early dealings ¼ to 1¾. This was followed by a recovery of ⅛ to ½. After 11 o'clock the market was moderately active, with a decline of ⅛ to 1½.

THE EXETER DEFAULTER.

Lane Gives Himself to the Authorities.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

EXETER, N. H., March 24.—Lane, the Exeter defaulter has voluntarily delivered himself over to the authorities and has been taken to Portsmouth. He has embezzled $20,000 from the depositors in his private bank and $25,000 of the county funds.

Serenade to General Grant.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

WASHINGTON, March 24.—General and Mrs. Grant will be serenaded at the White House tonight by the Workingmen's Association, who remember his enforcement of the 8-hour law.

A PHILADELPHIA CASINO.

The citizens of Germantown, Philadelphia, are to have a casino similar to that at Newport. A committee has reported that the cost of erection, etc., would not be less than $50,000, but would not exceed $100,000. The general arrangements of the proposed casino include a theatre, a gymnasium, a bowling-alley, billiard and card rooms, a swimming bath, a riding ring, a library and reading room, and inside tennis courts. In general explanation the committee stated that the theatre and auditorium attached could be used for the performances of dramatic clubs and vocal societies, and further, that professional companies from town and elsewhere might be invited to include the Casino in their circuit. For balls, the stage, orchestra and pit could be boarded over, leaving a magnificent arena for the delectation of the devotee of the light fantastic. The swimming bath was to be at the service of ladies and gentlemen on alternate days; instruction in the art in which Lord Byron excelled to be given by competent professors. One of the features of the riding ring might be hurdle races and other exciting equestrian sports. Another particular advantage would be the tennis courts, and tennis is a pastime which receives extraordinary favor in Germantown, but which can only be enjoyed in summer under existing conditions. Once the Casino is built, however, the fair damsels and gallant youths, who have hitherto been forced to make goals only while the warm sun shines, will be enabled, like Henry VIII., to take their tennis all the year round. It will doubtless be remembered by the student of history that the much-married monarch who presented England with the Reformation and the virgin Queen, never went to bed, winter or summer, without previously playing a game of tennis with one of his royal spouses, and it is hinted that among his majesty's objections to Anne Boleyn was that unfortunate lady's repugnance to the game. The proposed building is intended to afford to its members and frequenters all the accommodations of a first-class club, in addition to the many other advantages mentioned above.—[New York Herald.

ANGRY AT NEWSPAPERS.

It appears that Queen Victoria at first intended to seek rest at Cannes, but became alarmed at the rumors of the bad sanitary condition of the place, and chose Mentone as the resort to be visited. The people of Cannes are greatly vexed at the loss of the august patron, for which misfortune they blame the newspapers. They charge that by needless harping upon the bad sanitary condition of Cannes and the probable consequence in disease the newspapers have done great injury to the place. Well, what is the remedy? It is the duty of the press to expose evils wherever they exist. If Cannes has suffered loss because foul drains have been allowed to pollute the air of the place, it has had punishment well deserved. The newspapers deserve credit for making an exposure of the peril of the people of the place. Silence could not long have prevented general knowledge of the prevalence of disease there. The only remedy for the loss is in the thorough renovation of the sanitary condition of the town, so that it will become as famous for its healthfulness as it is for natural beauty and a delicious climate. Complaints were made in New York a year ago because the newspapers had so much to say about the dangerous sanitary condition of the city, and it was said business was injured by the alarm created. The press is frequently denounced during the prevalence of small-pox and other contagions, because people are afraid to visit the afflicted places for the transaction of business. But auger at newspapers which boldly tell the truth and point out a peril wherever they see it is very foolish. Like a doctor's lance, the newspapers often make deep cuts, but they cut to cure. It is better for Cannes to come under the treatment of the surgeons of the press than to remain in a condition of festering filth. And Mentone needs to have a care, for already the newspapers are telling stories of its sanitary condition which would have kept the Queen away had they been told a month sooner. With 34,274 newspapers and periodicals in the world, people who do, or are responsible for any evil are likely to be found out and suffer for it, and it is well for mankind that it is so.—[N. Y. Mail and Express.

Poultry are truly domestic and love their homes. If eggs are an object, it is most important that birds should not be moved from pen to pen, as it will delay egg production and diminish it greatly. Pullets for early laying should, if possible, be brought up in or within sight of their future laying run, pen or paddock; if, on the other hand, it is wished to delay the laying of a pullet and to encourage growth for prize purposes, her home must be changed often. A sitting or broody hen may best be cured by removing her to a new scene with fresh companions—a more reasonable and humane way of checking her maternal instincts than that of half drowning her, or shutting her up in darkness and dirt.

POINTED OUT BY COL. GEO. E. WARING, THE DISTINGUISHED SANITARY ENGINEER.

Dr. Frank H. Hamilton, in his address on "The Struggle for Life Against Civilization and Æstheticism," is reported to have taken a very gloomy view of the chances for life and health of modern civilized communities. A proper deduction from his argument would be that people must cease to live in cities. He sets forth in such terms as would be called sensational, if they were advanced by a professional sanitarian, the dangers of modern plumbing work, and he charges modern methods of heating and lighting with much of the injurious effect on the human race incident to the life led by its more civilized members.

A good general reply to Dr. Hamilton is to be found in the accepted belief that the average length of life is greater now than it was one hundred years ago; that the human frame has so increased in size that the armor of three hundred years ago could not be worn by the descendants of those for whom it was made, and that the modern civilized races are on the whole healthier and more efficient than were their progenitors of the middle ages.

Few, I imagine, would question the substantial soundness of Dr. Hamilton's position on the question of heating, lighting and ventilation, and no one, probably at all familiar with the subject will question what he says about the effect of the plumbing work of city houses on the life and health of the occupants. From tenement-house to palace, they are very often, almost universally disgracefully and dangerously bad. At the same time, bad as they are, and fatal as is their influence, we only need compare the present sanitary condition of New York city with that of London at the time of the plague, or with that of any undrained city during an epidemic of cholera, to demonstrate the great advance that we have made.

Dr. Hamilton is reported to have prescribed as the first requirement of an improved sanitary condition:—"That all plumbing having any direct or indirect communication with the sewers shall be excluded from those portions of our houses which we habitually occupy. In other words, that it shall be placed in a separate building or annex."

This requirement is simply an impossible one, and the theory on which it is based is not correct. It is quite true that such plumbing work as is to be found today in nine out of ten houses, even in Fifth avenue, is unsafe and ought not to be allowed to remain within the same four walls with a family of human beings. On the other hand, it would be utterly impossible, in our climate, without too greatly increasing the cost and the requirement of careful supervision, to maintain the necessary plumbing works in their efficiency in a building substantially detached from the main house. There is no doubt that the luxury of a wide distribution of plumbing appliances throughout the whole house has led to a great increase of risk, and to a wide dissemination of dangerous defects. The use of stationary washbasins in bedrooms not immediately adjoining soilpipes is to be deprecated; and everything should be reduced to the simplest elements that will give the necessary sanitary control of the waste matters of the house. At the same time, it is entirely within the power of modern art to establish, and to maintain, in any part of a dwelling house, all of the baths, water-closets, sinks, etc. necessary to convenience, and to the immediate removal of the outflow, without the least reference to the good or bad general ventilation and heating of the house. This can be done in such a manner that neither foul matters removed nor the drain and sewer with which soil pipes are connected shall have the least unfavorable influence on the sanitary condition of the house. It is only a question of proper arrangement, simplicity, perfect workmanship, perfect material, perfect local ventilation, and provision against any possible bad effect from unusual neglect.

Let us take no step backward in the essential improvement of the adjuncts of our daily life. Let us lop off luxurious superfluities and see that what is really needed is really good.

GEORGE E. WARING, JR.
NEWPORT, R. I.

Ex-Governor Morgan, of New York, is to give the dormitories to Williams College because he is a native of Berkshire county, and lived there until he was seventeen years of age. He is not an alumnus of the college. The main building to be erected will be of old English architecture, the material being the light, cream-colored Williamstown limestone, trimmed with Kentucky limestone. The cost of the building will be about $100,000.

CHARLES F. FRASCH,

AN ACROSTIC.

When an æsthetic young lady of town,

Made her way to the shops of renown,
Into Farrow's jewelry store,
Looking his Christmas goods o'er,
There his "too too" low prices she found.
Oh! then she cried, as she dimpled her chin,
Not too fast, Mr. F., but let us begin.

First of all, here are clocks for $1 or more,
And good timekeepers, too, "Are you sure?
Are you sure?"
Reliable watches, stem wind and stem set,
Remember! six dollars, the lowest price yet.
Oh! oh! oh! What forks and spoons, and knives for butter;
Why, such ridiculously low prices are "too utterly utter!"

Only look at these napkin rings going at cost,
Plated and silver, with bead work and frost;
Those are just lovely, "too beautifully too;"
In the light they now flash, they are so bright and so new.
Can you think of such prices for gold bands
and rings?
It seems that as presents, all are fond of such things,
And these chains and necklets—do tell me
the price?
Now that will suit Nannie, with locket so nice.

Just look at these charms, these pendants,
these pins,
Enough, Mr. Farrow, my head nearly spins,
With the goods, and the prices, your own
kind attention,
Each impression I now so æsthetically mention,
Leaves but one choice, with those who want to buy,
Each Christmas as it rolls around when time
is on the fly,
Remembrances, and other gifts, "thanks,
thanks, most awfully."

A Blood Food for

DELICATE WOMEN, NURSING MOTHERS, SICKLY CHILDREN, THE AGED, CONVALESCENT, OVERWORKED, CAREWORN, EMACIATED, NERVOUS AND SLEEPLESS.

50 Times More Nourishing than any Malt Liquor, while free from its injurious properties.

The Salvator for Invalids and the Aged. An Incomparable Aliment for the Growth and Protection of Infants and Children. A Superior Nutritive in Continued Fevers, and a Reliable Remedial Agent in all Diseases of the Stomach and Intestines.

THIS justly celebrated Dietetic Preparation, is, in composition, principally the GLUTEN derived from the WHITE WINTER FLINT WHEAT CEREAL, a solid extract, the invention of an eminent Chemist. It has not only been highly recommended but certified to by a large number of Chemists and Physicians—representing a very high degree of medical science—as the SAFEST, MOST ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE FOOD FOR THE GROWTH AND PROTECTION OF INFANTS AND CHILDREN, and for Mothers lacking Sufficient Nourishment for their offspring.

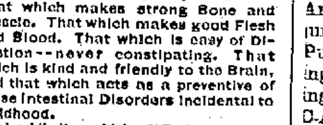

Unlike those preparations made from animal or vinous matter, which are liable to stimulate the brain and irritate the digestive organs, it embraces in its elementary composition—

That which makes strong Bone and Muscle. That which makes good Flesh and Blood. That which is easy of Digestion—never constipating. That which is kind and friendly to the Brain, and that which acts as a preventive of those Intestinal Disorders incidental to childhood.

And, while it would be difficult to conceive of anything in Food or Dessert more Creamy or Delicious, or more Nourishing and Strengthening as an aliment in Fevers, Pulmonary Complaints, Dyspepsia and General Debility, its Rare Medicinal Excellence in all Intestinal Diseases, especially in

Dysentery, Chronic Diarrhœa and Cholera Infantum,

HAS BEEN INCONTESTABLY PROVEN.

Winthrop Wrought-Iron Furnace!

Has been in use for the past seven years, and given entire satisfaction. I offer it to the public as the most desirable furnace on the market. Special attention is called to the new dust-flue damper and revertible flues, that are not found in the other wrought-iron furnaces. The dust-flue damper prevents escape of dust when shaking down; the revertible flues cause the flames to sweep the entire surface of the wrought-iron drum, thereby securing much greater radiation of heat, and consequently a great saving in fuel. Cost less to keep in repair than any other furnaces. Are powerful heaters, with moderate consumption of coal. I have sold over 70 in this city. Sold by
